What can you do when there is no more milk? You sell the cow! But can a young child make a good deal? Perhaps he can, thanks to his will to imagine fantastic worlds. Five magic beans will take us to the "upper world", where everything is bigger, richer and nicer, but also more dangerous. Jack will show us how children can be much smarter and braver than grown-ups.

On stage, two actors play on two levels: the contrast big vs. small (the ogre and the child) and fantastic vs. real (the world above the clouds and the one on earth). It is a passionate, very physical theatrical play combined with the imaginary world of the videos.
