Visioni di futuro, visioni di teatro...
international Festival of Theatre and Culture for Early Years

Visioni 2018 in Numbers

Every child has his or her own ways, every age its own timing and urgency. The urgency of very young children is crystal clear; there are so many things to know, too many things to be amazed at. And if you listen carefully, their perception is so intense it is stunning. Among the many adults that surround children, there are the artists, who can hide behind masks or do what children ask: to experience art in a simple yet powerful way, and be amazed with them.

From February 23 to March 4, 2018 the fourteenth edition of the international festival of theatre and culture for early years took place in Bologna, organised by La Baracca - Testoni Ragazzi.

An event that brought to our city shows, experiences, reflections and eyes wide open on early years, from all over the world.

Ten days dedicated to theatre for children from zero to six years old with shows presented by companies from Italy and abroad, and involving artists and professionals from 4 continents. A variety of training activities and workshops for teachers and caregivers were also held, along with conferences and conversations about international experiences.

Many were the guests from abroad, the international collaborations and the Italian productions for early years. Austria, Belgium, France, Germany, Japan, India, Romania, Singapore, Spain, Sweden and The Netherlands were the countries represented at the festival, with shows presented as premières.

Moreover, this year's programme featured a special focus on dance, with shows for children, training sessions for adults and the first meeting of The Young Dance Network.

Over those ten days, the theatre became a place of exchange, a territory where art and education professionals had the opportunity to entwine experiences and give life to new visions of the universe of early years.

In the pages that follow, we will give you an overview of "Visioni 2018 in Numbers".
